³ Individual investors can submit bids for SGS through selected banks' ATMs and internet banking portals. Individual investors should check with their banks on the exact closing date for SGS application through these channels.

⁴ For individual investors, the initial amount debited for reopened bonds at application will be 115% of the bid amount. This is to take into account capital gains and accrued interest since the final purchase price of the reopened bond will only be determined after the auction. If the investor's bid is successful, the difference between the final purchase price and the initial amount collected will be credited into or debited from the investor's bank account after the auction, depending on whether the final purchase price is lower or higher than 115% of the bid amount. The auction results, including the final yield and purchase price, will be published after the auction.
